

Global Poverty Roundtable

TASC

Trade, Aid & Security Coalition

The Trade, Aid and Security Coalition And the U.S. Bangladesh Advisory Council

Invite you to a luncheon discussion on Trade Preferences and the Poor

Featuring:

Ann Tutwiler

Global Food Security Initiative, Office of the Secretary
United States Department of Agriculture

Dr. Mustafizur Rahman

Executive Director, Centre for Policy Dialogue
Dhaka, Bangladesh

Kimberly Elliott

Senior Fellow, Center for Global Development

Trade policy, including trade preference programs, can reduce global poverty and promote economic growth and stability in the world's poorest countries. Unfortunately, preference programs regularly exclude commodities that poor countries can produce competitively, such as agricultural products and clothing, and many programs must be frequently renewed, creating uncertainty and discouraging investment. This session will explore how changes in trade policy can promote growth in the world's poorest countries.

Date: Thursday, April 22, 12:30—2PM

Location: 1301 K Street, NW | Suite 600

Please RSVP by emailing jmorris@globalworksfoundation.org

A light lunch will be served

The Trade, Aid and Security Coalition is a nonprofit project of GlobalWorks Foundation that builds innovative partnerships, educates opinion leaders and provides practical experience on international trade and economic policy in the fight against global poverty. More at: <http://www.tascglobal.org>.

The US-Bangladesh Advisory Council is a non-profit, non-partisan organization, working to strengthen the relationship between the United States and Bangladesh through public policy.